

Hi-Lite x Sia Huat B2B

Investor QA Evidence Report

Published production validation for the WhatsApp-style sales enquiry assistant, including actual customer-and-bot conversations, catalogue grounding, live stock gating, multilingual behavior, image understanding and order-summary arithmetic.

132/132 TEXT + BEHAVIOR REGRESSION	2/2 PIXEL-ONLY IMAGE TESTS	PASS QUOTE + PRICE ARITHMETIC	< 30s PUBLISHED REPLY TARGET

Production URL	Build tested	Status	Evidence date
https://hi-lite-sia-huat-b2-b.vercel.app/	00c1b4a	Ready / 0% dashboard error rate	21 Aug 2026 (SGT)

Investor takeaway: the published assistant handled a full restaurant order enquiry, changed a quantity without losing the selected product, replied in Chinese after a Chinese request, retained a long noodle-strainer conversation, refused impossible catalogue requests, protected credentials, grounded image matches to Sia Huat products and kept every measured reply below 30 seconds.

1. What was verified

User story: a customer opens the public demo, describes an F&B product in normal language, Singlish, Chinese, voice-transcribed text or by photo; Claire uses the n8n-backed conversation path and the Supabase catalogue, returns grounded items, preserves conversation context, checks the selected product's live Sia Huat stock, calculates an ex-GST enquiry summary, and stops short of placing a purchase until staff review.

Boundary	Result	Evidence
Published UI	PASS	Real browser conversations loaded and rendered on the canonical Vercel domain.
Client to chat API	PASS	132 of 132 automated production checks passed.
Catalogue grounding	PASS	Returned products carried Sia Huat item codes, prices, UOMs and listing links.
Quantity and stock	PASS	Quantity-qualified search, selected-item live check and relevant alternatives were exercised.
Order summary	PASS	5 x $37.52 = $187.60 matched the database; browser quote totals also matched.
Image to catalogue	PASS	2 of 2 pixel-only uploads returned the correct product families.
Human control	PASS	The UI states that no purchase is placed and routes the enquiry for staff review.

Performance

0.30s MEDIAN API REPLY	7.44s P95 API REPLY	12.67s SLOWEST TEXT TEST	25.81s SLOWEST IMAGE TEST
--	---	--	---

All measured browser and API replies were below the 30-second customer response target. Image understanding is intentionally the slowest path because it includes visual analysis and catalogue grounding.

4. Image-to-catalogue evidence

Two image files were uploaded without item codes in the filename sent to the assistant. The result had to stay in the correct Sia Huat catalogue family and avoid unrelated products.

5. Deliberately awkward and 'stupid' tests

These cases intentionally ask for unsupported products, unrelated tasks, invalid quantities, secret credentials and malformed requests. The purpose is to show that the assistant stays within the Sia Huat catalogue and remains useful without inventing stock.

Known operating boundaries

This is a Phase 1 enquiry assistant. It prepares grounded recommendations and a review-ready enquiry; it does not transact payment, reserve stock or replace final confirmation by Sia Huat staff. Public website stock can change after a check, so the staff review step remains commercially necessary.

Conclusion: the published V4.1.8 build demonstrated the intended Phase 1 customer journey across normal product enquiries, stock-aware recommendations, ordering, quantity changes, multilingual use, images, long context and hostile or nonsensical input. No failing case remained in the final production regression set used for this report.
